

New Ventures Consulting: Final Day in the ConCourt
“DAVID & THE 3 GOLIATH’S”

18 May 2017

The confirmation that it is unlawful to hold new owners liable for previous owners/tenants debts will be determined in the Constitutional Court on 23 May 2017 before a FULL PANEL OF 11 JUDGES. 18 advocates will represent the various parties (click here to see all the parties), which include 3 amici curiae (a friend of the court). The Banking Forum of South Africa most notably, make no secret of how their security and ability to finance loans will be affected by this decision.

NVC is the driving force of this landmark court case!

We have carried this entire legal battle on behalf of our clients since 2013 at our own risk and cost. Our service includes an indemnity of protection to our clients when we challenge and reduce Municipal claims (i.e. clearance figures/certificates).

The entire country will be affected by this outcome. Municipalities and ordinary ratepayers will now know their rights.

This will now come to an end!

NVC is committed to perfecting Municipal Governance!

We are a family owned business with high morals and principles. We believe that the justice system will end this nightmare. Everybody's prayers and support will be greatly appreciated.

ATTORNEY

Thanks for the update, and I am glad to see that someone is fighting in our corner, It is extremely frustrating that the council holds the owner liable for outstanding debt, even though it is in the tenants name, I would assume that if payments are not made, that the water should be disconnected, and not just continue to run into thousands of rands, Lets hold thumbs, please keep me updated

PROPERTY OWNER

Hi Peter, Just a short note wishing you well in the application being heard on the 23rd.

BANK

Peter, keep up the outstanding effort you are doing for everyone's benefit, except the Municipalities. We pray you will prevail.
